Probation Law
Is Not The
Diabolical Failure
Space Writers
Make It
Out to Be

THERE seems to be an increasing antipathy against the Probation Law which is legally known as Section 1203 of the Penal Code. That this feeling is far from being justified can be easily determined by a study of the facts. Recently in order to inform the people of the actual results obtained through the law, a check was made of 500 cases which had been referred to the Probation department by a judge of Superior court for investigation.

Of these 500 cases, 236 or 47 per cent were denied; 178, or 35 per cent received probation and the cases of the remaining 36, or 7 per cent were either transferred, received fines or disposed of in some other manner.

It will be seen by these figures that instead of probation being the rule it is rather the exception. In going further into the record of these 500 cases investigated, it was brought out that 147, or 29 per cent had previous crime records, while 72 per cent were first offenders. Permission to file an application rests solely with a judge of the Superior court, so the judge before referring the case to the Probation department has either decided the offender is deserving of another chance or else he is desirous of having the record of the applicant checked up so that the information may be sent to the pension board for further reference.

The further impression that probation falls in a majority of cases is also disproved by this check for it brings out the fact that 75 per cent of those placed on probation comply in full with all the instructions of the court and eventually their cases are dismissed and the record against their names eliminated.

THE remaining 25 per cent are not wholly to be charged against the Probation law as failures, for 16 per cent of these are what the department refers to as deserters, they having left the state. As a great many of them were first offenders they probably profited by their experience and many of them are making good citizens elsewhere. Nine per cent are known failures as this number either committed other crimes or failed to report to the probation officer or did not obey the instructions of the court, and were speedily dealt with by being sentenced to the penitentiary. Even those who are granted probation do not set off without any punishment, for 35 per cent of them served an average of six months in the county jail.

The Probation law, as we see it, is eliminating the hardened criminal. It deals mostly with the first offender and brings them to a realization that honesty is the best policy and that a life of crime has no rewards.

RECORD PRICE FOR LOT ON HARVARD AND MARYLAND

The recent trading of the lot at the northeast corner of Harvard and Maryland at a valuation of $100,000 for Flintridge property and other considerations to an equal amount has given rise to unfounded reports that the lot on the opposite corner, formerly occupied by the First Lutheran church building, had been sold outright for the amount named. W. Wallace Plumb whose company handled one end of the deal and which put up the handsome two-story business building on the property, said he considered the said building, worth about $55,000 as that would make the ground value $45,000, which is certainly a pretty good price for frontage a block from each of the main business streets. Who says Glendale values are not still advancing.

Welfare Chest Committees and Advisory Board to Meet Tomorrow

WELFARE CHEST ADVANTAGES TO BE SET FORTH

Committees Will Meet on Wednesday Evening,
All Citizens Monday

If there is any one in Glendale who does not understand the purpose of Glendale's Community Welfare chest, or who does not appreciate the advantage of one drive for $40,000 to finance the fourteen organizations to the support of which Glendale has been contributing, that person is invited to send his or her name to the secretary of the chest, Burton McGinnis, or to the chairman of publicity, Dr. Warren Z. Newton, and all will be made clear.

The headquarters of the chest is at the Chamber of Commerce. The drive for the $40,000 will begin one week hence, or bright and early Tuesday morning, November 20. One week has been allowed for a campaign of education to inform the people of Glendale in regard to the chest and the advantages of this plan.

Thus far it has been indorsed by all the luncheon clubs and civic bodies whose members have been addressed on the subject, all of whom are glad to be spared the repeated solicitations which they have experienced in the past, or the call to service in the various drives that have been put on.

Wednesday evening there will be a meeting of the publicity and campaign committees at the Chamber of Commerce to complete arrangements for the drive, and next Monday evening at Glendale High will be held a mass meeting to be attended by the full organization of the Community Chest including the board of directors, and to this meeting all Glendaleans are invited, that a full exposition of the plan may be set before them, and all questions answered. The aim of the organization is to have the matter so well understood by November 20 that the canvassers will not be called upon to explain the project for the reason that every man, woman and child in Glendale will already have been fully informed.

Following is the personnel of the chest including the board of directors, advisory council, and committees:

Board of Directors

Advisory Council

Norway's Largest Light House Now in Use

[By Associated Press]
CHRISTIANA, Nov. 13.—The largest lighthouse hitherto erected along the Norwegian coast was used for the first time October 1. The lighthouse, which is of concrete and is 150 feet high, has been built on Slettingen near Titran on the west coast. The main lantern has an intensity of 465,000 normal candle power and flashes two beams in quick succession every fifteen seconds. A supplementary light illuminates some dangerous rocks in the vicinity. In foggy weather a powerful siren will give the necessary warnings.

CITY SCHOOL FUND SHOWN TO BE IN GOOD SHAPE

Balance Sheet Reveals
Amount on Hand Now
$520,908.53

A balance sheet, showing all expenditures since the commencement of the fiscal year July 1, will be submitted by Richardson D. White, superintendent of grammar schools, tonight to the board of education.

The balance on hand for the operation of the grammar school system until June 30 is now $520,908.53. Out of the budget of $851,716 only $339,807.47 has been expended.

Budget allowances, expenditures and balances are as follows:

Administration—	$14,760, $4,270.05, $10,489.95.
Teachers' salaries—	$242,425, $27,054.75, $215,370.25
Supplies, except books—	$15,000, $4,367.70, $10,632.30.
Library books—	$2691, $1,983.73, $707.27.
Operation school plant—	$34,000, $5,690.08, $28,309.92.
Maintenance school plant—	$3,000, $2,219.20, $780.80.
Fixed charges—	$3,400, $901.54, $2,498.46.
Auxiliary agencies—	$4,800, $588.70, $3,941.30.
Capital outlay—	$531,640, $283,461.72, $248,178.28.

The monthly report of Miss Helen S. Tupper, school nurse, will be received also. During October she examined 2102 children, discovered 730 defects and excluded 14 children from school. Exactly 434 children were found ten per cent under weight.

L. A. STORES WIDE OPEN ALL DAY YESTERDAY

Many of the Glendale merchants, who so loyally and patriotically closed their stores all day yesterday are considerably worked up over the fact that Pasadena places of business were open half the day and Los Angeles merchants did not close at all. The latter fact is accounted for, of course, by the holding of the parade and other features of the observance on Sunday in the Angel City.

In all fairness, however, it would seem that, as Monday was declared the time for a general observance, on account of the real Armistice Day coming on Sunday this year, the stores of all the cities of the southland should have been closed all day, as is, in the sense the term is generally used, a legal holiday. As it was, it placed the Los Angeles merchants in an apparent position of profiting by the patriotism of their brother business men of Glendale. In the future, when there is a like situation, it might be well for the merchants of all adjacent cities to form a joint agreement.

BIDS FOR TRANSPORTATION OF MAIL TO BE RECEIVED

Bids for the transportation of mail to and from the postoffice and the Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric depots will be received during the next ten days at the postoffice. The schedule calls for three round trips to the Southern Pacific and nine to the Pacific Electric on week days with a fewer number of trips on Sunday.

CANDIDATES FOR GLENDALE HONORS DIRECTORS NOW NUMBER 19

Election Date Is Nov. 27 and Ballots May Be Mailed

Nineteen candidates are now in the field for the six approaching vacancies on the directorate of the chamber of commerce. Ballots are being mailed to all members of the chamber of commerce in good standing. The constitution provides that they must be sent out ten days before the election. This will take place on November 27. Ballots may either be mailed or deposited in the ballot box in person. In order to vote members must have paid their dues through the current month.

The election committee consists of J. Herbert Smith of 116 North Brand boulevard, George J. Lyons of 1300 South Brand boulevard, Ed Nisale of 135 1/2 South Brand boulevard, A. C. Tucker of 233 South Brand boulevard and S. Berman of 410 South Brand boulevard.

The candidates are George U. Moyse of 322 East Harvard street, principal of Glendale Union high school; C. W. Ingle of 501 East Wilson avenue, president of the Glendale Advancement association; Delos H. Smith of 302 North Maryland avenue, manager of the Brand boulevard branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings bank; Harry White of 600 North Jackson street, president and manager of Harry White, Inc.; Lyman P. Clark of 124 West Colorado street, ex-president of the Glendale Kiwanis club; D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard, postmaster and president of the Glendale Exchange club; George E. Karr of 1150 North Louise street, manager of the local factory of the Baldwin Shirt company; William Hunter of 107 East Lomita avenue, proprietor of the Glendale Paint and Paper store; W. B. Kelley of 305 East Randolph street, realtor and ex-president of the Glendale Exchange club; Herman Psenner of 601 South Brand boulevard, manager of the Psenner Brothers Auto Electric company; Harry G. MacBain of 614 East Lomita avenue, manager of the Glendale Market; R. F. Adams of 312 North Isabel street, member of the Superior Printing company; S. C. Singer of 530 North Central avenue, district manager for the Southern California Gas company; A. M. Yale of 205 West Doran street, member of the Yale Brothers Realty company and the general construction company; James Webb of 127 West Chestnut street, founder of the Glendale Hardware company; Fred Deal of 237 North Louise street, district manager of the Southern California Telephone company; L. H. Wilson of 1034 South San Fernando road, president of the San Fernando Boulevard Improvement association.

League of Nations Must Obey the Laws

GENEVA, Nov. 13.—In no European town are the regulations on circulation, both for roads and sidewalks more strictly enforced than in Geneva. M. Hanotaux, France's representative for the League of Nations and Quinones de Leon, Spain's representative, had this fact brought to their attention the other day. They were so deep in a discussion that when crossing a street, they came to a halt and continued their argument in the middle of the road, heedless of the desperate gesticulations of the nearest policeman.

"Here, you two, do you suppose that sidewalks were made for dogs only?" asked the officer as he came up to them.

Both men came back to reality with a shock.

"Do you know whom you are addressing?"

The officer laid a hand on each "I should worry, the sidewalk for yours."

"But, Monsieur, I represent France on the Council of the League of Nations."

"And I, Spain, Monsieur."

A broad grin passed over the policeman's face as he replied: "You can represent what you like, but I, I represent the law."

The two delegates stepped on to the sidewalk without further discussion.

MEMORY OF OUR WAR HEROES

Celebrates Armistice Day
With Parade, Games
and Speeches

BY EMILY GERTRUDE GIBBS
The Armistice Day parade was not a spectacular affair but none the less satisfactory. To the legionnaires it was good to march together again in the open with the band playing and flags flying. To the spectators who lined the sidewalks or blocked the side streets with their autos it was good to see "the boys" again in their uniforms and realize all over how becoming they were.

How the sight of those World War veterans brought back the strenuous days of war which nevertheless had their compensations in bringing civilians closer together in a common cause than they had ever approached before, days when personal advantage and pleasure were sacrificed for the Red Cross or the bond campaign or whatever other call might come to public service. Only five years past! How vividly the time lives in memory when the legionnaires march and yet how remote it seems.

Some such thought was in the mind of every man and woman waiting to "see the flag go by" and the veterans with it, proud to have been its defenders, proud to have the honor paid them, and yet with the same-faced look of protest against all the fuss and feathers that the modest hero normally wears.

Dignitaries, officials and members of other patriotic orders were glad to participate in the events of this day dedicated to soldiers and sailors of the World War, and so the mounted marshal of the day, Lieutenant M. V. Cook, with Mayor Spencer Robinson and a group of others on fine steeds, curvetting and making believe they were afraid of the autos circling around them. This group included Captain W. B. Kelly, Captain Gilliland, an honor man from overseas, Lieutenant H. Robert Plume, Mrs. Margaret Kaeding, president of the auxiliary of the Glendale Post American Legion, Mrs. A. G. Terrell, Mrs. R. R. Thorpe, Dorothy Graves and Rudolph Bakfield.

Then came the marching veterans, the honorees of the day who held all eyes and some of the eyes were wet with tears for those not there.

The time "Uncle Sam" sang small. He came "riding on a pony" in the person of Ralph Cunningham. He was a real Yankee Doodle Uncle Sam except that he had no feather in his cap.

Not to be outdone in distinction of this sort, the junior Red Cross came to the fore represented by three little girls—Nelly Perry and Dorothy Gardiner drawing a cart decorated in the colors in which rode baby Betty Grace Gardner.

Other marching squads were the Headquarters and Machine Gun companies of the Glendale National Guards, 160th Infantry. With their marshal marched the company mascot, the sedate Aldridge "Muggins," gaily caparisoned but taking the bedissement calmly.

SMUT RESISTANT IS DISCOVERED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Development of a new variety of winter wheat which is resistant to smut or smut is announced by the Department of Agriculture. It has been named "Ridit" because it is expected to rid the wheat fields of smut. The variety was developed by Dr. E. F. Gaines of the Washington agricultural experiment station at Pullman, Wash., in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture. It was bred through crossing Turkey and Florence varieties, the latter a smut resisting spring wheat from Australia. Ridit has been found better adapted for the more humid regions than for semiarid regions. A few hundred farmers in eastern Washington planted Ridit this fall to give it a more complete trial than it has had in experiments.

representatives were on hand from Sons of Veterans, Joe Griffin, R. M. McGee and some more. The Daughters of Veterans were represented by Mrs. E. B. Moore, Mrs. Gertrude Griffin and Mrs. Robert Danner.

Autos also carried official representatives of the Glendale chapter, American Red Cross—Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman; Mrs. C. L. Peckham, Mrs. Lillian W. Mrs. John Robert White and Mrs. Dan McLean of Canada, a new resident. In other machines were groups of the Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. E. W. Hayward and associates.

Somewhere in an appropriate place rode Councilmen Asa Hall and Sam Davis. The big red hook and ladder truck, manned by boys of the fire department, lent color to the scene, and a squad of city police, dignity.

It was not a long parade and the line of march was soon covered, but it left its impress nevertheless upon all who participated or witnessed it. May Armistice Day never fail to give Glendale a view of the men she reverences in her heart of hearts, the veterans of the World War, wearing again the uniforms which symbolize their service and the decorations which so many of them earned in that terrific conflict. Not all whom Glendale claims were able to march but here are the names of the men lined up when the parade started from Cedar and Broadway:

Commander Chalmers Day, Paul Hatfield, Howard Stanley, Frank Stanley, W. B. Kelly, Robert Plume, M. G. Larkin, Frank J. Hageny, G. A. Felstrom, H. D. Turner, A. E. BOLD LONE BANDIT ROBS CALLA LILY CREAMERY CO.

Forces Office Employees to Perform While He
Scoops Up Cash

The third attempt within the past four months to rob the office at 647 Porter street of the Calla Lily Creamery company was staged this morning in broad daylight and proved successful to the extent of about $300.

The episode is regarded by Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of the Glendale police department, as one of the boldest in the annals of local crime. The hold-up was arranged so as to catch Cashier R. L. Garber in the act of checking up week-end receipts preparatory to taking them to the bank. Through the necessity of performing an errand in Los Angeles Mr. Garber had departed earlier than usual, taking $2,000 in currency with him. At the time the robbery occurred this reposed safely in the custody of a local bank.

While dozens of persons in the vicinity went about their work as usual entirely unaware that anything unusual was going on, the robber drove into the courtyard about 9:45 a. m. and parked his automobile just north of the office. While D. C. Kerns, one of the drivers, and E. H. Sanborn, the bookkeeper, sat at opposite sides of a flat-top desk, he entered the office and inquired concerning a job. He was informed that he would have to make application in the creamery. He stepped outside the door and it was believed that he had gone.

A moment later, however, he was back inside the office with a revolver in his hand. He ordered Mr. Sanborn and Mr. Kerns to throw up their hands and "fanned" them with his revolver while he scooped the stack of currency and the stack of silver from the top of the desk into his pocket. He then went to the safe, which was open, and took another sack of silver and some small change out of the petty cash drawer.

Meanwhile, he had been keeping his victims changing from one seat to another. The humor of the situation caused Mr. Sanborn to laugh.

"I don't like your looks!" exclaimed the "stick-up artist," "you lay down there on your belly."

The tableau, therefore, ended with Mr. Sanborn lying face down on the floor and imitating a fish. After pulling the telephone from its connecting wires, the robber uttered a warning not to give the alarm for five minutes and departed. He had a little trouble getting his car started and, after the engine had commenced to chug-chug, he peered in the doorway to see that his victims were behaving themselves properly.

As soon as possible, Mr. Sanborn and Mr. Kerns rushed out of the office and informed E. Paggi, president and manager of the Calla Lily Creamery, of the hold-up. He hurried to his car and followed the fleeing Chevrolet touring car, bearing license 608,700, north on Porter street to Colorado, where it turned toward Eagle Rock and was lost in the traffic.

The robber was about five feet seven inches in height and about 140 pounds in weight. He wore a light gray suit and was unmasked. His complexion was sallow as though from dissipation. He was extremely nervous and it was evident that he had been drinking.

U. S. NOT TO JOIN IN PROTEST AGAINST PRINCE'S RETURN

[By Associated Press]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Coolidge believes the traditional policy of the American government would preclude it from joining with the allied governments in the protest to Germany against the return of former Crown Prince Frederick William or his father, the former emperor, or in measures to prevent the re-establishment of the monarchy.

CRIPPLED MURDERER TO BE SENTENCED TODAY

[By Associated Press]
COQUILLE, Ore., Nov. 13.—Sentence of death was expected to be pronounced this afternoon upon Arthur Covell, crippled bandit and a trooper, who was convicted of first degree murder Saturday for inspiring his nephew, Alton Covell, to slay Mrs. Ebba Covell, the boy's stepmother and the accused's sister-in-law.

COMMUNITY BAND MAKES DEBUT TONIGHT

Concert Will Be Given in the Hi Auditorium and Is Free

Glendale's Community band will make its "debut" tonight at a concert in the High school auditorium under the auspices of the Glendale Exchange club.

Community Service is extending an invitation to all residents of Glendale who are music-lovers to attend this concert, which is being given on the second of its Community nights.

Val M. Hollister of 416 North Louise street, president of Community Service, will open the meeting and turn it over to D. Ripley Jackson of 1300 South Brand boulevard, president of the Glendale Exchange club, who will not only preside but will sing a solo also.

The band will be led by its new director, Arthur Balue of Los Angeles. Selections by it will include: "War Eagle March" by B. Berry; "Rays of Gold Overture" by Wheeler; "In Olden Days," a gavotte by Johnson; "Carnation," an intermezzo by Johnson; and "Heroes of War March" by Johnson.

Humorous readings by Mrs. George W. Pierce of 207 East Maple street are expected to be well received.

Mrs. Mina Wenzel of 408 West Broadway will sing "The Song of Songs" by Maya and "My Love Will Outlive It All" by Blaufuss. Mrs. M. King Custer of 452 West Lexington drive will be the accompanist.

COMMANDERY IN DOUBLE SERVICE, MASONIC TEMPLE

Monday was a big night at the Masonic temple when the Glendale commandery, Knights Templar, entertained the Golden West commandery of Los Angeles with a chicken dinner at which, covers were laid for 170, previous to the regular lodge session at which the visiting officials conferred the order of the Red Cross and the order of the Malta in long form on a class of 11 candidates.

The Golden West band accompanied the delegation and furnished music while the banquet was being served.

The conferring of the order of Malta in long form is an elaborate ceremonial in which 21 officers from their regular stations participate and the degree work is very beautiful. It is an event rarely witnessed.

After the conferring of the degrees short talks were made by eminent Sir Charles Wright, commander of Golden West, Sir Charles Schreiber, generalissimo, and others.

Sir Knight Hyre of Long Beach commandery, ably assisted in the degree work by the rendition of music throughout the evening.

Next Monday the order of the Temple will be conferred by officers of the Glendale commandery, and on the evening of November 20 they will go to Hollywood commandery to confer the order of the Temple there following a 6 o'clock dinner as guests of the Hollywood organization. All members and visiting knights are invited to accompany the officers.

ADJ'T. GENERAL BORREE'S SUCCESSOR APPOINTED

[By Associated Press]
SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—Colonel R. E. Mittelstaedt, world war veteran of San Francisco, today was appointed by Governor Richardson to succeed General J. J. Borree as adjutant general, as was predicted last week. There were 18 candidates for the position, but the governor went out of the list and "drafted" Mittelstaedt, he announced.

The police department reports that it was unusually quiet over the holiday season, except for a few phone calls of a trivial nature.

Events of Interest to Glendale and Its People

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Burges, their son George M. and daughter Margaret, are now contented residents of Glendale which they reached November 10 after a transcontinental auto trip of 3132 miles from Washington, D. C. All along the way they heard of Glendale. Up to the time they reached St. Louis the trip was made in comparative comfort. Then a detour over rough roads had to be made to Kansas City, and 30 days of rain had made quagmires of the thoroughfares in the Sunflower state. They apparently find Glendale realizes all their expectations and are glad to be here.

Mrs. Etta Quinn of Galva, Ill., is spending the winter with her niece and nephews, Mrs. W. H. Nicholson of 853 Milford, Lorena Bess of 504 Burchett and Clyde Bess of 619 Orange Grove avenue.

Glendale friends of George F. Schmolz of this city, who recently went to Seattle, where he was married to Mrs. Mollie Lincks, might be interested to know that he and his wife are visiting at Vancouver, B. C. They will leave soon for Kentucky to visit Mrs. Schmolz's relatives and from there will go to Mr. Schmolz's former home in Pennsylvania. They plan to return to Glendale next fall.

The many friends of Mrs. J. W. Powell and her son, Harry L., will be glad to know they are still enjoying their visit in the south. They formerly lived at 505 East Palmer and made many friends during their residence here. At present they are with Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Jackson in Alexandria, Louisiana. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will be remembered here, as they visited Glendale several times during the last few years.

Miss Emma Saxton of Glendale was a visitor to San Diego last week and over Sunday, stopping at Hotel St. James.

ANIMAL SMARTNESS NOTED MORE IN ELEPHANTS THAN IN OTHER SPECIES

Are elephants smart? Just as shy as any shrewd business man. "Tony," one of the herd of elephants with "Golden Bros." Big Four Ring Trained Wild Animal Circus, that gives two performances in Glendale on Thursday, November 15, is of a very gentle and amiable disposition. His place is next to Jumbo, the second, in the menagerie. At each meal Tony eats slowly, taking his time and seeming to enjoy each mouthful. Jumbo the Second, however, has an eye to business and every few minutes he reaches over in front of "Tony" and pulls a trunk full of oats and hay back with him and laying it beside his own, thus augmenting his own meal.

"Tony," however, in spite of his lovable disposition lives true to his kind. Last summer a boy with the show laid a bundle down near-by. Elephants are curious, and he picked it up to see if it had any peanuts enclosed. The boy grabbed the package from him and went about his work. A long time afterwards he had a chance when the boy was near, and putting his trunk out, he grabbed him and hurled him to the other side of the tent. The boy was not hurt much, but it shows how keenly "Tony" felt hurt at having what he thought something eatable, taken away from him. And yet with Jumbo the Second, he will stand by and have his oats and hay taken away as though there were some sort of understanding of mutual agreement existing between the two big brutes. Two years ago when "Golden Bros." Big Four Ring Trained Wild Animal Circus, experienced a wreck "Tony" worked all night with his trunk tearing apart cars so that stock could be let out. Always he is gentle and will obey any one. It's hard to make elephants work in the dark but "Tony" is different, no matter what the time he is always ready. His friendship for Jumbo the Second is somewhat of a puzzle to the keepers and speculation is always rife as to what he will do next to show his affection for Jumbo the Second.

The big herd of elephants with the "Golden Bros." Trained Wild Animal Circus, is only one of the many animal attractions. They all perform and are in the Big Open Day parade given at 10:30 a. m. The tapestry and draperies that cover the elephants are the most expensive in the circus world today.

American Red Cross Is Worthy of All Aid

The American Red Cross, which is being included in Glendale's first Welfare Chest, has a direct appeal to all of us. It was the one army that did not lay down its arms on the signing of the Armistice. On the contrary, most of its work has just begun.

The recent calamity which befell Japan when millions of her people suffered dire distress following the earthquake, has served again to reveal to the people of the nation the readiness of the American Red Cross to respond immediately for service in a great emergency and to apply the generous gifts of our people to the amelioration of human suffering.

"During the summer the chapter members worked on layettes to be sent overseas and 40 were made, consisting of 16 pieces each. The chapter has recently made and filled 50 comfort bags, to be sent as Christmas gifts to men in service in our insular possessions. Because of the pressing need of warm clothing for the Japanese the National Red Cross issued a call for 15,000 kimono to be made. Glendale accepted a quota of 50, which will soon be ready for shipment.

"In the home service department ex-service men are assisted, also their wives and children, with money, clothing, bedding, advice and sympathy. About 50 this past year have requested aid. When a man's compensation stops without notice, when he is ill, out of work, wishes to enter a hospital, he appeals to the Red Cross and very seldom in vain. Your contribution will greatly assist in carrying on the work.

"Clothing of all kinds (for men), jams and jellies are now being collected for a Thanksgiving gift for the men at Sawtelle.

"All Red Cross chapters have

TOPARCH BENNETT AND WIFE HOSTS TO SCIOTS

H. M. Bennett, the toparch of the Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots, Glendale pyramid No. 39, and Mrs. H. M. Bennett gave a dinner dance Monday evening at the Glendale country club to the officers and circus committee of the Sciots. It was a wonderful affair and the place was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums. The dinner had a tone of circus all the way through, the favors being small circus clowns. During the evening K. A. Louis rendered several vocal selections and dancing was enjoyed by all, the music being furnished by a five-piece orchestra.

Mr. Bennett took advantage of the occasion to thank the ladies who assisted so cheerfully in making the circus a success. Several speeches were made by guests, including Norman Davidson, Arthur Dibern and Ralph Murdy.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Dibern, Mr. and Mrs. Norman G. Davidson, Dr. and Mrs. Warren Z. Newton, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Murdy, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moody, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Mathiesen, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Shattuck, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Carlock, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Russell, Mrs. and Mrs. Geo. G. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Archie W. Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Jellison, Miss Olive Middleton, Mrs. B. Kendall, Miss B. Hudson, Miss Gertrude Grenzer, R. J. Kinley, K. A. Louis, and Robt. A. Sullivan.

ELKS LODGE HOLDS SHORT BUSINESS MEETING

A short business meeting of the Glendale lodge of Elks No. 1289 was held on Monday night and several applications for membership were balloted upon. At the meeting next Monday there will be initiation and the visit of the district deputy, Frank Cryderman. Final report will be given on the recent entertainment for the Elks Christmas charity fund. In addition to this there will also be refreshments and entertainment.

BUSINESS SESSION OF WOODMEN LAST NIGHT
Members of the Modern Woodmen had a business session Monday night at which plans were discussed for the campaign for new members which is being inaugurated. The lodge now has an enrollment of 110.

Applications from 12 prospective members were received and December 10 a large class will be initiated with appropriate ceremonies.

The bowling team of the lodge which is participating in the 14-week contest now on at Jensen's Amusement Recreation Center, is enthusiastic and will bowl next Friday night. Members of the team are Dr. Bion Warner, Henry Molz, and Neighbors Clinton, Young and Davis.

IMPROVEMENT ASS'N TO MEET THIS EVENING

The West Glendale Improvement association will meet on Tuesday, November 13, at the Columbus avenue school at 8 o'clock. There will be an open discussion of the sewer bonds and community chest. Other important matters will also be taken up. A special invitation has been extended to the members of the city council to be present.

MRS. GARDNER ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF A NIECE

Mrs. Harry Gardner of 339 West Doran street entertained Friday evening in honor of her niece, Miss Marjorie Metzger of Yakima, Washington. The evening was spent in playing bunks. First prize was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Garton, second prize to Miss Beulah Dunbar and consolation prize to Miss Metzger. Those present were Miss Marjorie Metzger, Mrs. Joseph Metzger, Miss Elizabeth Garton, Miss Irene Roger, Miss Beulah Dunbar, Miss Evelyn Hunt, Miss Eloise Truitt, Mrs. Dunbar, Mrs. Mae Hepburn and Mrs. Gardner. Miss Metzger and Mrs. Metzger are spending the winter in Glendale.

"HER HONOR THE MAYOR" REPEATED SATURDAY NIGHT

Patrons of the entertainment given Saturday night in K. of P. hall by members of the Emerson School of Self Expression as a benefit for the Letter Carriers' association, filled the auditorium to overflowing. The drama, "Her Honor the Mayor" lasted until 11 o'clock and the plan to follow it with a dance was abandoned. Excellent work was done by the eight members of the cast, especially Mrs. R. Cleg-horn who had the stellar role of "The Mayor," and Mrs. A. C. Cravens who filled the role of the

SHOWING TONIGHT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

"Where the Mountains Meet the Sea," is the subject of a chautauqua lecture which will be delivered by Rev. Thomas Lutzman, well known chautauqua and radio lecturer at the Glendale First Methodist Episcopal church, Tuesday, November 13 at 8 o'clock p. m.

Rev. Lutzman is well known to thousands of radio fans by his lectures and sermons over KHJ, Los Angeles.

In addition to the lecture a three-reel film of Pacific Palisades, the great religious and educational center being built on the shores of the Pacific near Santa Monica, produced by Fred Evans, will be shown. No admission fee is charged and no collection will be taken. Come and hear Rev. Lutzman and be entertained by these pictures.

Widow and suffragette who becomes a naval officer. The evening was voted a great success and the returns were satisfactory to all concerned.

Piano solos were rendered between the first and second act by Miss Bessie Long, piano instructor of the Emerson school who played "The Butterfly" and another number, and between the second and third acts Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson sang with Miss Long at the piano.

DELIGHTFUL FETE GIVEN IN HONOR OF MRS. OWEN EMERY

Mrs. Warren Roberts and Mrs. C. C. Cooper were hostesses at a very delightful party given Saturday night at the home of the former, 617 East Elk avenue, in honor of Mrs. Owen Emery. Large baskets of roses and dahlias, chrysanthemums and sweet peas were used throughout the house. On the library table the centerpiece was a little cradle filled with pink and white sweet peas. Mrs. Charlotte Busby was awarded the prize for one of the guessing games and presented it to the guest of honor.

The dining table was centered with a large yellow rose on a mound of smilax, in the center of which was a doll dressed in pink tulle and with arms outstretched. Inverted Japanese parasols hung from the chandelier, from which peeped pink and white sweet peas. From the spokes of the parasols were hung celluloid dolls. Lighted candles furnished illumination. After Mrs. Emery had opened many packages, which contained beautiful gifts, a two-course luncheon was served. Tiny rose candle holders in the pastel shades were fastened to the place cards as favors.

The guests included Mrs. Owen Emery, Mrs. E. E. King and Miss Mary King of Hollywood, Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mrs. Charles Temple, Mrs. A. M. Hunt, Mrs. W. W. LODGES - CLUBS - CHURCHES

Over 300 Legionnaires and their friends ended a day of happy celebration on Armistice Day with a dancing party given Monday night by Glendale post No. 127 at the Tuesday Afternoon ballroom. The decorations were in keeping with the patriotic spirit of the day and were carried out in red, white and blue crepe paper festoons hung from the chandeliers.

Don Campbell's nine-piece orchestra furnished music for dancing, which began at 8:30 and continued until midnight. Comrade Leroy Fortier, who had charge of arrangements for this big affair, sang the choruses of several of the popular dance numbers and won the enthusiastic applause of the dancers. Card tables were arranged in the palm court for those who cared to play. During the evening punch was served.

MUNICIPAL ZONES

The zoning law as applied in Los Angeles is being attacked. To the harmonious development of any city, a system of zoning is essential. Commercial interests do not hesitate to destroy the beauty and value of a residence district. They have no consideration for the artistic. Nothing touching the ethics of a situation appeals to them. Therefore it becomes necessary to subject them to a degree of restraint. It is to be regretted that a zoning system satisfactory to everybody cannot be devised. As this is impossible, the interests of the great majority have to be considered.

Given a residence district where some uniformity prevails, where there is space for lawns and shrubbery, and the presence of trees is a distinct element of value; open this district to business and apartment houses, removing restrictions, and unsightly structures begin to rise at the street line. Surrounding property at once depreciates. What had been a fine residence area degenerates into a minor business area. At the same time there is abundant frontage elsewhere available for business purposes.

City planning is an important activity. Growth, when it is mere expanding, without system or direction, produces ill effects along with the possible good. No community may expect to advance to its own best advantage when it ignores the aesthetic wholly. There is a place for every class of structure, but to jumble all of them in a mass, would be a harmful and destructive course.

OVERRIDING A JUDGE

The instructions of a San Bernardino judge were ignored by a jury recently. He had stated that the verdict must be that of acquittal. The jury found the defendant guilty, the only reason apparent, being that he was guilty. The instructions that would have cleared him were based on a technicality that had no merit. The defendant was a policeman, so recognized by the community, and paid out of the funds provided by the public for such purpose. The accusation was that he had struck or otherwise abused a prisoner. Counsel for the accused set up the allegation that the prosecution must establish the fact that the policeman had been duly appointed to office. This it had been unable to do through recourse to official records, the same not being available, and oral testimony being excluded. The contention naturally struck the jury as being ridiculous, although the court accepted it as not only worth considering, but as vital.

When a man performs the duties of the police, has power to make arrests, and to take his prisoners to jail, drawing salary as a policeman, the assumption is fair, even inevitable, that he is what he seems to be. If he has arrogated to himself authority to which he has no right, it is not clear how this pretense gives him the privilege of mistreating a prisoner and escaping penalty.

The verdict of the jury will be accepted as one more protest against having justice thwarted through technicality that has no other purpose.

DIFFERENCE IN METHOD

A sojourner from Sweden said to a reporter the other day "the timber areas from which we draw our raw materials are practically inexhaustible. To prevent depletion of this resource our government enacted a law about thirty years ago which requires immediate reforestation of all areas from which timber is removed for pulp purposes. In this way our timber supply has been kept practically intact, although it has been drawn upon for centuries."

All this recalls the American method because so different. In this country the timber supply is being destroyed with the utmost deliberation. Men attack a forest with axes, and when they pass on they leave a wilderness behind. The exposed soil is quickly washed away from the higher places, so that the wilderness is made permanent. On many a tract stripped of its timber nothing ever will grow again.

To deplore this wanton waste is quite common, but the waste goes on. There are few stands of timber in which all of the trees are of merchantable size. Lumbermen get permission to fell those large enough for their purposes, but they do too thorough a job. They do not leave tree or shrub, for almost invariably the ground over which they cut is swept by fire. Then the mischief is complete.

Forest fires cannot be prevented wholly since some are due to lightning or to spontaneous combustion, but the loss they create could be minimized were steps to do so taken promptly as the custom is in Sweden. The chances are that Sweden will be producing lumber after every board and plank used in the United States shall have to be brought overseas. It is too bad, and contemplation of it is depressing. But the lumberman, thinking of the present only, do not care, and congress busy with partisanship or pork, is too busy to give the matter a thought.

VISIONING THE FUTURE

As often has been said, no wise man would attempt to set a limit to that which science may accomplish. However, in dreaming of what the future is to be, the changes brought about by human design, it seems rather futile to include those not in themselves desirable. For instance, there is the prediction by one scientist of synthetic food. This is to be prepared by chemists, and to take the place of the present staples of the table. Such a change would argue a total collapse of present activities and habits. The stomach of mortal, faulty as it may seem at times, evidently was created for the purpose of digesting nutritive substance. One necessity is that this substance should have certain bulk. On this principle the horse eats more hay than grain. Denied the bulk, but given a pellet instead, the stomach would have to be recreated. Considerable of the quality that sustains life might be compressed into a pill, but that this would answer the purpose of a steak or a mess of cabbage, is doubtful. Moreover the raising of crops is a useful and engaging function, and usurpation of the job by the laboratory expert is not an idea inspiring enthusiasm.

The same scientist believes that the hours of sleep will be cut down so as to add to the working day. But why add to the working day? Particularly when the conditions are to be such that the large number now employed in feeding the world are to have their jobs taken over by the chemist? Satan would be busier than ever finding enough mischief for countless idle hands to do. Industrious folk, reduced to the necessity of loafing, would be miserable enough without staying awake overtime to realize how miserable they were.

Light without heat is another hope of the same prophet. It would be a suave and beneficent addition to the comfort of living, and does not seem impossible, or even improbable. The making of artificial wool is another of his projects. On the list also is the storing up of heat, and complete conquest of disease, the last implying environment and modes that never have existed, and a depth of knowledge of which the most advanced of minds, have but a faint inkling.

If one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives it's probably because it hasn't any next-door neighbors.

If you're looking for a reward it is better to be a pacemaker than a peacemaker.

WHY WE ARE "GREAT"

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

The citizens of this glorious republic make a hideous row whenever they have to pay taxes for public improvements and they yowl like a pack of starved coyotes when the bills for education come in—education being, in the opinion of many otherwise sane people, a luxury.

However, these same citizens expend for chewing gum $37 for every dollar paid out for education. That is why Mr. Wrigley can own islands with de luxe trimmings while college professors stand too close to the bread line to enjoy mental peace.

Nobody objects to the admirable Mr. Wrigley enjoying his island. Let it be admitted off-hand that he manufactures a fine grade of chewing gum.

But there are a number of men in this country who have for sale and others who offer almost gratis a brand of education that will compare favorably with Mr. Wrigley's chewing gum.

The trouble is that thousands of people are willing to use their jaws where one is willing to use his brain fibre.

We chew most of the time, but think only rarely and then with rebellion in our souls and fight surging through our vitals.

Cosmetics stand close to chewing gum in the esteem of the citizens; our national bill for paint, powder, perfumes, etc., runs way into the millions and it happens that right in the heart of Los Angeles are numerous beauty shops whose proprietors find it a simple matter to get $100 out of a woman as their reward for peeling her countenance.

In fact when it comes to the peeling process the beauty shops are in the front ranks. They can peel your pocketbook of its large bills as easily as the chewing gum can separate you from your nickels and pennies. Mud for facial packs comes at $1 per small bottle and the shops can hardly supply the demand. Two cents worth of "hot oil" rubbed into your scalp reduces your bank account by $2 and it costs 50 cents to have a marcelled gum chewer clip and polish your nails instead of doing it yourself.

It happens, and naturally, that everybody wants to be pretty, but the beauty dope for which the millions are spent is as ephemeral in its results as the chewing gum.

The only lasting service to beauty comes through the services of a skillful facial surgeon, and believe me, these specialists are not on my charity lists.

And we who pay all this groan and moan when it costs $14 a year to keep a child in high school and we look with suspicion on any teacher who sports the staggering luxury of a Ford.

According to the savants the only possible solution of the sorrows of a bedlamistic world lies in education.

Well, let us meet the situation as it is. Why not charge everybody who buys chewing gum an equal amount for the cause of education? That will not injure the chewing gum industry and, my, what a boon it will be to education.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

No one could have gotten acquainted with Harold P. Morse two years ago, unless that some one happened to be a burglar. Or worked at the next desk. Or habitually shared Morse's seat on the 7:55. It wasn't that Morse was cold or haughty or timid. He was simply not interested. He had insulated himself from the world.

"He is the best office man I ever knew," said his partner. "But he never goes out. He has his crackers and milk brought to him at noon. He catches the 4:10 by an unvarying miracle each afternoon and dubs around the house or garden until dinner time. After dinner he either reads up on business or else sinks into a detective story."

"No movies?"

"No nothing," said the partner, ungrammatically. "No dances, no synthetic gin, no village association, no bridge, no anything."

It was a shock to meet the insulated one capering lightly to the lascivious pleasantries of a jazz band not long ago. The telephone brought the information the following night that he had gone out to play bridge. Mrs. Morse looks fifteen years younger than she did two years ago. He spoke at the City Club's Thursday night.

"Get out and mix," was his theme. "This world is full of romance if you'll only look for it. Pretty girls are still to be rescued. Villains are still to be found and thwarted. It's fun to find a kid who is up against it and give him his chance in life. This isn't a cold, soggy, depressing world at all. It is bright and fine and beautiful—if you will only get acquainted with it."

He never had a dog before. He has one now. He plays golf instead of solitaire. He has propped more than one weakling from the Alley Mission. But I cannot find out how he broke the crust.

"I do not know myself," he said, "I merely got tired of the monotony of life. Then I began to do things. Life isn't monotonous after all. It's fun."

THE LISTENING POST

A man sat upon the fence and looked at the garden.
There were flowers growing in the garden.
And weeds.

For the cultivation had been neglected.
And weeds grow in gardens where there is lack of cultivation.

Nature has a way of putting things in uncultivated places.
She fills the neglected garden with weeds.

We call them weeds.
But someone has said that a weed is merely a flower out of place.

That is a flower that we want in the garden.
And that is a weed that we do not want.
But Nature does not respect our wishes.
She plants what she wills.
And it is for us to make the selection of what shall survive and what shall perish.

It is true of minds as it is of gardens.
Neglected minds grow up to weeds.
Mental weeds.

Cultivated minds bear flowers.
The flowers of intelligence and culture and learning.

It is for us to make the selection of what shall grow in our minds.
Weeds or flowers.
And the man who sat on the fence saw both weeds and flowers.

Songs of the Poets

The Road—By Clinton Scollard in Munsey's

Into the distance drear and dim
Goes the road, and I go, too,
On to the far horizon's rim,
Ever and ever away from you.

Yet howsoever wide we part,
Dawn or dusk, my fond and true,
Ever and ever my constant heart
Backward fares on the road to you!

STEINMETZ

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE death of Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz was a loss to the world.

Why such a man had to die is almost as mysterious as why such a man ever came to be born. Any of us could think of a lot of human beings that could have better been spared. Still death is a part of the program of life and none of us can hope to escape.

The career of Steinmetz was most dramatic.

Thirty-four years ago, says the newspaper account of him, a young American student, Oscar Schmussen, at the Engineering School in Zurich, fell in love with a Swiss girl. His uncle, a wealthy Californian, heard of the affair and ordered him home. He impulsively offered to divide his money with his chum, a fellow student, that both might take steeper passage to New York.

This chum was Charles P. Steinmetz, who at the time was a refugee from Germany because of his Socialist activities. He landed in America as a political refugee, with ten dollars and no job.

The immigration officer did not want to admit him at Ellis Island. He had little money, a deformed body, and defective eyesight. It was feared he might become a public charge.

He lived to become America's greatest Electrical Engineer.

His fame was second only to that of Thomas E. Edison throughout the world. He was not an inventor so much as a genius in electrical theory and research, and a master of engineering mathematics. He was also a great teacher.

One of his most spectacular achievements was in March, 1922, when he set off a bolt of artificial lightning of one million horsepower in a steel-lined laboratory in Schenectady.

He never married and lived with his adopted son and chief assistant.

Like Agassiz, he had no time to make money, and the estate he left was insignificant, probably not over $25,000.

He had no fixed salary. The company maintained laboratories for him at the works and at his home and paid for all of his experiments, and for his living. That was all he wanted.

He had many peculiarities. He smoked incessantly cheap cigars that made a heavy smoke and contained little nicotine. He was the one person allowed to smoke in the plant and the management permitted this because he refused to go to his laboratory because there was a "No Smoking" sign placed there.

All his life he was interested in Socialism.

He was supposed to be one of a dozen men to understand Prof. Einstein's Law of Relativity.

He ran for the position of State Engineer of New York, and although it is improbable that ten grown persons in the state could be found that would not admit that he was the man best qualified for the job he was defeated by the political parties.

He was several times president of the National and International Scientific Societies.

Harvard gave him the degree of Master of Arts, and Union College made him a Doctor of Philosophy. He wrote numerous technical books.

While he did not object to being called an atheist and his religious beliefs would have excluded him from being called a Christian in the minds of many, the pastor of All Souls' Unitarian Church, of which he was a member, said of him:

"If religion is loyalty to life's values, then I have never known a more intensely religious man than Dr. Steinmetz."

He was a great and original genius.

He was one of the best illustrations of what opportunity means in America. The story of his life should be known to every boy and girl for he fought the good fight against limitations that to many would have been insuperable.

He was true to himself. By his own efforts he raised himself from the utmost obscurity to become one of the world's greatest men.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Germany's plight seems steadily to grow worse. At intervals it appears to be as bad as possible, and then takes a downward plunge. The situation suggests Milton's "In the lowest deeps, deeper still."

Ludendorff, and the principles he embodies, represent the evil genius of the Germans. It led them into the folly of attempted conquest, and it has prevented the establishment of a stable government since the fall of the kaiser and his regime.

There was much ado concerning the plans of the allies for impressing on the war leaders the fact that the sins of war had been grievous. The upshot of it was that nothing was done. The men first responsible for conditions in Europe, with the single exception of the kaiser himself, have been permitted to strut about ever since breathing threat and hatred.

In the end Ludendorff was defeated by a mistaken sense of immunity. Probably a severe lesson awaits him.

For the conditions that have developed since the war, blame must rest on many powers. Nor can it be affirmed that the United States is guiltless. This country did, as Zangwill unkindly remarked "light a great light and then blow it out." It withdrew a moral influence that might have saved endless misery. It was looked to for leadership, but refused to lead.

For just a little while Germany has had two dictators, a fact creating a situation impossible of continuing. One would uphold the republic and the other would establish a monarchy. Each regards the other, and the other's supporters as guilty of treason. But the republic made the first capture.

Civil war may be counted absolutely as among the things that Germany does not need. Another experience for which it seems to be reaching is that of war with France. The climax is beyond the ability of any man to conjecture.

It is fortunate that an authentic biography of Grover Cleveland has been issued. That he was a great President will not be denied even by the bitter partisan of a different political faith. The foreword in the volume is a tribute from Elihu Root.

Mr. Cleveland was honest to the core. He was deaf to flattery, and above political trick. When he knew himself to be right there was nothing that could sway him. He was fearless, and while his attitude towards other governments was friendly, there was not one of them able to deceive or to intimidate him.

In the short term since he passed away, it may be that his personality has a little faded from view, but this, history is bound to correct. In its pages he will stand as a notable figure.

Recently the body of a suicide was found in a room with thousands of dollars in gold. Some wonder is expressed that he should have elected to leave his wealth.

If one has interest in such matters, or as a newspaper reporter, has had to become familiar with the subject of suicide, he will realize that the act seldom has any relation to money. Life is as likely to appear worthless to the rich as to the poor. When the mind has become so clouded as to be unable to realize happiness, no wretched mortal would prolong it for the sake of associating with a pile of gold.

The suicide ordinarily is insane. As a rule the reasons for his act could not be analyzed and lead to any other conclusion.

Naval airplanes will make an attempt to fly to the North pole. While the undertaking is declared to be "the most dangerous in all history" it cannot be that. There has been many an undertaking of which the climax could be nothing but fatal. The Arctic flyers will be running great risks, but they will have a chance.

Naturally there are a lot of aviators anxious to be chosen for the mission. The love of adventure is frequent, and the tendency to court hardship, and to flirt with death, never yet has been eliminated from human ambitions.

Old Californians will remember that at irregular intervals for many years there have been rumors of the establishment of a great steel works in southern California. The report had come to be accepted as inevitable but lacking authenticity. They will be pleased to learn that the rumor has crystallized into fact. Down at the harbor a tract for the site has been bought at a cost of $2,000,000. Work will proceed immediately, and the whole initial investment will be about fifteen million dollars.

An immense amount of steel is used on this coast, and it ought to be made here. Besides, there is constant demand from the Orient, and here is the logical point of supply.

There will be no excitement over the announcement that McAdoo will be a candidate for the presidential nomination. Probably the opinion of republicans will be that his party could not name a stronger man, and they will be ready for the fight.

It really would be comforting to have the campaign narrowed to representatives of real parties, cutting out the Fords, Johnsons and La Follettes.

There really is encouragement in the fashion in which the police are gathering in the criminals that so long have terrorized the public. Now if the zealous bestowers of paroles will cease to be so busy, reform is actually in sight.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

ILL HEALTH

Ill health can easily become a habit if the children are permitted to form it. The dramatics of illness impress them. They note that the invalid is the center of attention. Everything is set aside for him, everybody thinks of him and does for him first.

The importance of the invalid appeals to the children who are so often forced into the background and told to be still and make no trouble. Nobody ever says that to the sick one. He is expected to make trouble and people seem to be happy to wait upon him. Then why not be the invalid?

He gets nice things to eat, too. If he asks for the least little thing like a plate of ice cream or an orange he gets it immediately. Even if it is the middle of the night. What more could one wish than that?

And the company that he has. The doctor drives up and scampers right to him without noticing anybody else hardly. And the minister calls and all the neighbors.

Aunts that have been but vague and shadowy outlines appear in full flesh and bring gifts. Why not be the invalid ones? It ought to feel rather nice to have all this notice!

So the youngster who has been looking on and feels rather neglected as perhaps he has been in the rush and anxiety of the household, takes on the air of invalidism. He becomes finicky about his meals, languishes on the couches and stair corners and twiddles aimlessly about his tasks.

Somebody notices and calls the doctor's attention to him. "Not a thing wrong with him," pronounces the doctor after looking him over. "Better give him a change of atmosphere though. Needs to get away from the house for a while. Sickness depresses some children."

So off he goes to grandmother's or auntie's and if they are wise folk they make no remarks about his health, but take for granted that he is a healthy little trout and quite able to frisk about.

It is very easy for children to assume the habits of illness or the mannerisms of the ailing folk about them. It is too bad that any child should be reared in a family of complaining people. If they don't feel very well surely they can keep it from the children. If they must have a special diet and pills before eating and powders afterward and a half hour's nap after that, they needn't announce it with trumpets at every meal.

Illness should be kept under cover as much as possible for everybody's sake. Medicine should be taken in the privacy of one's room. The dramatics of illness should not be presented daily to the children. They'll be lots healthier and far happier.

Modern Version of New Testament

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

"I tell you, among men born of women no one greater than John the Baptist has ever appeared. And yet those who are of little importance in the Kingdom of Heaven are greater than he. But from the time of John the Baptist until now men have been taking the Kingdom of Heaven by storm and impetuously crowding into it. For up to the time of John all the Prophets and the Law itself prophesied about it, and, if you are ready to accept the idea, he is himself Elijah who was to come. Let him who has ears listen! But to what can I compare this present age? It is like children sitting about in the bazaars and calling out to their playmates.

"We have played the flute for you, and you would not dance!"

We have wailed and you would not beat your breasts! For when John came, he neither ate nor drank, and people said, 'He is a demon!' Now that the Son of Man has come, he does eat and drink, and people say, 'Look at him! A glutton and a drinker, the companion of tax-collectors and irreligious people!' And yet Wisdom is vindicated by her actions!"

Then he began to reproach the towns in which his numerous wonders had been done, because they did not repent.

"Alas for you, Chorazin! Alas for you, Bethsaida! For if the wonders that have been done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented in sackcloth and ashes long ago! But I tell you, Tyre and Sidon will fare better on the Day of Judgment than you will! And you, Capernaum! Are you to be exalted to the skies? You will go down among the dead! For if the wonders that have been done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have stood until today. But I tell you that the land of Sodom will fare better on the Day of Judgment than you will!"

At that same time Jesus said,

"I thank you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for hiding all this from the learned and intelligent and revealing it to children. Yes, I thank you, Father, for choosing to have it so. Everything has been handed over to me by my Father, and no one understands the Son but the Father, nor does anyone understand the Father but the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him. Come to me, all of you who toil and are burdened, and I will let you rest. Let my yoke be put upon you, and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble-minded, and your hearts will find rest, for the yoke I offer you is a kindly one, and the load I ask you to bear is light."

At that same time Jesus walked one Sabbath through the wheat fields, and his disciples became hungry and began to pick the heads of wheat and eat them. But the Pharisees saw it and said to him,

"Look! Your disciples are doing something which it is against the Law to do on the Sabbath!"

But he said to them,

"Did you never read what David did, when he and his companions were hungry? How is it that he went into the House of God and that they ate the Presentation Loaves which it was against the Law for him and his companions to eat, or for anyone except the priests? Or did you never read in the Law how the priests in the Temple are not guilty when they break the Sabbath? But I tell you, there is something greater than the Temple here! But if you knew what the saying means, 'It is mercy, not sacrifice, that I care for,' you would not have condemned men who are not guilty. For the Son of Man is master of the Sabbath."

And he left the place and went into their synagogue. There was a man there with one hand withered. And in order to get a charge to bring against him, they asked him,

"Is it right to cure people on the Sabbath?"

But he said to them,

"Who among you if he has even a single sheep and it falls into a hole on the Sabbath, will not take hold of it and lift it out? And how much more a man is worth than a sheep! Therefore, it is right to do people good on the Sabbath."

Then he said to the man,

"Hold out your hand!"

And he held it out, and it was restored and became as well as the other. But the Pharisees left the synagogue and consulted about him, with a view to putting him to death.

But Jesus knew of this, and he left that place. And numbers of people followed him about, and he cured them all, and warned them not to say anything about him—in fulfillment of what was said by the prophet Isaiah,

"Here is my servant whom I have selected,
My beloved, who delights my heart!
I will endow him with my Spirit,
And he will announce a judgment to the heathen.
He will not wrangle or make an outcry,
And no one will hear his voice in the streets;
He will not break off a bent reed,
And he will not put out a smoldering wick,
Until he carries his judgment to success.
The heathen will rest their hopes on his name!"

At that time some people brought to him a man blind and dumb, who was possessed with a demon, and he cured him, so that the dumb man could speak and see. And all the crowds of people were astounded, and said,

"Can this be the Son of David?"

But when the Pharisees heard of it they said,

"This man cannot drive out demons except by the aid of Beelzebub, the prince of the demons."

But he knew what they were thinking, and he said to them,

"Any kingdom that is disunited is on the way to destruction, and any city or household that is disunited cannot last. If Satan is driving Satan out, he is disunited, and so how can his kingdom last? And if I am driving the demons out by Beelzebub's aid, by whose aid do your sons drive them out? Therefore let them be your judges. But if I am driving the demons out by the aid of God's Spirit, then the Kingdom of God has overtaken you. How can anyone get into a strong man's house and carry off his property unless he first binds the strong man? After that he can plunder his house. Anyone who is not with me is against me, and anyone who does not join me in gathering, scatters. Therefore, I tell you, men will be forgiven for any sin or abusive speech, but abusive speech about the Spirit cannot be forgiven. And whoever speaks against the Son of Man will be forgiven for it but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit cannot be forgiven for it, either in this world or in the world to come."

"You must either make the tree sound and its fruit sound, or make the tree bad and its fruit bad; a tree is judged by its fruit. You brood of snakes! how can you, bac as you are, utter anything good? For the mouth says only what the heart is full of. A good man, out of the good he has accumulated, brings out things that are good, and a bad man out of what he has accumulated that is bad, brings out thing that are bad. But I tell you, for every careless word that men utter they will have to answer on the Day of Judgment. For it is by your words that you will be acquitted, or by your words that you will be condemned."

Announcing Series of Garden Parties

Thursday
Will Be
Glendale
Day at

BENMAR HILLS

"Burbank ~ The City Beautiful ~"

A CELEBRATION

These garden parties are being given to signalize the official adoption of Benmar Hills by the City of Burbank and to mark the widespread recognition of Benmar Hills as a pronounced, established success.

THEY ALSO COME JUST AT THE RIGHT TIME TO CELEBRATE FITTINGLY ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT EVENTS IN THE HISTORY OF BURBANK AND THE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY—THE SANCTION BY THE LOS ANGELES CITY COUNCIL, NOVEMBER 6, OF THE PACIFIC ELECTRIC SUBWAY ON THE LINE TO BURBANK AND OTHER SAN FERNANDO POINTS.

This subway will bring Burbank 20 to 30 minutes closer to Los Angeles. Already being sought as a suburban home by hundreds of Los Angeles' residents, Burbank now holds an unrivaled desirability as a City of Homes.

Burbank has already demonstrated a phenomenal power to grow by increasing in population from 2900 to over 10,000 in less than three years. Assured of this vast improvement in its transportation facilities, this rate of growth, amazing as it is, must continue to increase.

Never was a city better situated to care for its development than Burbank. Because, in Benmar Hills she has, fully prepared, the foundation for an entire city—thousands and tens of thousands of people! It has a metropolitan street and boulevard system—a 20-acre civic center site—carefully segregated and properly restricted residential, commercial and industrial sections—every public and private convenience—A COMPLETE MODEL CITY PLAN.

Benmar Hills has progressed along the scheme of her development to the extent of more than $2,000,000 worth of property sold—official acceptance of her civic center, park sites, and street system by Burbank—the erection of the Burbank High School within her confines—work on her streets and other improvements well advanced—and scores of homes and other buildings planned or in progress of construction! Benmar Hills is a unique, idealistic, wonderful REALITY.

You, who live in Glendale, must have a keen appreciation of how tremendously property values have been increased in Burbank simply by the sanction of that new subway. Benmar Hills offers you your one BIG opportunity to profit by these increased values whether you seek an investment opportunity or an ideal homesite. To those who act promptly—who act NOW, big rewards are sure to accrue. Come out TODAY and make your selection.

Thursday—Afternoon and Evening

We sincerely hope you will accept our invitation and come to our party, for your presence will help to make it a success. Many of your friends will be there and it will add to their enjoyment to have you there too. We promise you a delightful afternoon and evening and an instructive one as for, if you have not been out Benmar Hills way lately, you will be amazed at the strides this district has been taking.

Drive out San Fernando Road or Kenneth Road to the western part of the City of Burbank. The Garden Party will be at our headquarters at Amherst Drive, just beyond the new Burbank High School at Benmar Hills.

REV. H. I. RASMUS, JR., MAKES ORATION OF THE DAY

Honors the Dead, Pleads for Justice to the Living Heroes

Patriotic exercises at noon yesterday marked Glendale's observance of Armistice Day.

While veterans of three wars stood at ease, Rev. Harry Rasmus, associate pastor of the First Methodist church, made the oration of the occasion.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, who made a short speech, was introduced by Chalmers D. Day, commander of the local post of the American Legion.

"Memory is one of the noble faculties of the human mind," declared Rev. Rasmus. "There are times when it is well to forget, but there are times when the greatest tragedy of life is not to remember."

"No one could doubt the patriotism of America during the war. It was a vital thing. But some of us wonder what has become of that intense spirit of patriotism today. I am thinking of the after problem, the treatment of our world war veterans. We received them home with cheers and kisses a few years ago, but what of today. Some of them die in poverty, squalor and want while bureau chiefs debate as to what our nation can afford to do for them."

"They cannot give back the limbs to him who gave them in the war, nor can they give sight to the sightless eyes of him who yet smiles in his pitiable condition; but they can provide in a reasonable way the care and the living which shall show some small measure of appreciation for that which they did for this nation. We cannot afford to do less."

"The world needs America today. Harry Holmes of Australia has said, 'I used to covet the position that America held in the hearts of the Belgians and I wondered why this was so. I shall never forget hearing a member of one of the noblest patrician families in Brussels say when asked why America was revered by the Belgians, 'Why, for two years the only flag seen in Belgium was the Stars and Stripes, and it was no uncommon thing for the people of the small towns and even in Ostend and Brussels, to empty the American flour sacks, gaily decorate them and put on this motto, 'Give us this day, Lord, our daily American bread.'"

"Then, there was the American fighting man, so wonderfully represented here this morning. When he first went to France and Belgium, because he was unused to trench fighting and was unacquainted with hand-to-hand combat, he was given some minor tasks to do in the rear lines."

"Finally, in response to the appeal of General John G. Pershing, he was sent into battle. It was at that time when the German wedge had broken through the Allied lines and was making its last, and it seemed triumphant, drive on Paris. The American soldier was sent into battle and this so-called raw recruit proved himself the equal of any fighting man on the field. He was placed at the point of the wedge and not only turned the point of that wedge, but drove the pick of the German troops back, back, until Paris was safe."

"The world needs America as truly today as then—not her fighting men, not her gold, but that intangible, invaluable something that we call moral support. Without it, world peace cannot be assured; and we cannot expect to keep the respect, the love, the esteem of the world if we withhold this."

"Then a word of tribute to our soldier dead:

"At the close of the world war, Harry Lauder stood beside the grave of his boy who had fallen in battle and offered this prayer, 'Oh, God, that I might see my ladie this once to thank him for what he has done for humanity.'"

"The best way to thank our dead is to live for that for which they died. We must finish the task for which they gave the last full measure of devotion."

DOUBLE SERVICE HELD AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

There was a double service Sunday morning at Central Christian church. It was not only Armistice day, but Fathers and Sons' day as well. The service opened with the reading, with indescribably thrilling and pathetic effect of "The Americans Come," by Mrs. Bertha Jackson MacKay. It was supposed to represent a battle-blinded French soldier eagerly listening to his young son telling of the street amid cheering thousands bearing aloft a wondrously beautiful flag of white stars on a blue field and alternate stripes of red and white. At this the blinded hero rapturously cries, "The Americans Come." At the conclusion of the recital the air.

Rev. Cole paid a tribute to the gallant lads who went across the seas or did their bit in training

FIRST MARRIAGE AND LIFE IN THE GARDEN OF EDEN

The interest in the studies in Genesis being given by Keith L. Brooks before the Presbyterian Brotherhood Bible class was manifest by unusually good attendance Sunday morning. Among other things Mr. Brooks said:

"We have traced through the six days' work culminating in the giving out of God's latest creative thought, man and woman. The testimony of geology is that man is the latest-born inhabitant of the earth and that he came from a common center somewhere in the tableland of Asia. The Bible teaches that all races came from the one stock. The beasts were made after their kinds, implying variety, but we read nothing of different kinds of men."

"Man was formed, put in a beautiful garden, with fragrance and fruit to charm his senses, and to live was unalloyed delight, for converse with God was easy. We read that God Himself brought the beautiful woman which He had taken from Adam's side, unto the man. God made this marriage. He made man single, then divided him in two, and then made the two one. Adam saw that this was the most intimate relation possible among human beings. In Eden, their joy was so complete that between the two there was but one heart, for Adam said, 'She is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh.'"

So intimate was the marriage relation as God established it, that every other union should yield to it.

"Therefore shall a man leave his father and mother and shall cleave unto his wife, and they shall be one flesh." It is so sacred that God further says, 'Let no man put asunder what I have joined together.' We notice in this second chapter of Genesis that the duty of the husband to the wife is stressed. It is not the woman who is called upon to make all the sacrifices. In those days the man gave up all, if necessary, in order to cleave unto his wife. Eve was Adam's 'helpmeet.'"

The family was the ordinance of God and one purpose of it was to increase the instruments of His glory in the earth, so He blessed them and commanded them to multiply.

Adam gave names to the animals that God had created. This involves high intelligence.

Adam was commanded to dress and keep the beautiful garden in which he had been placed. There was occupation for man as soon as he was created, for man needed exercise as well as education. Our greatest pleasure is in a worth while task. After man's fall, he was brought down to labor, which word suggests difficulty and depressing drudgery. Sin changed his former joyful occupation into the sweat of his face.

"The Price of Peace" is Rev. H. C. Funk's theme. Speaking on the subject of "The Price of Peace," Dr. Funk used II Tim. 2:3, for his text. "Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." He said in part:

"Roosevelt used to say, 'Fight it out, and then you will have peace.' 'Seeing it through,' is another way in which the idea may be expressed. You will meet with persecution and misunderstanding but we are here admonished to endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. When we remember how the early Christians were driven from their homes; how they dwelt in caves and in dens of the earth; yea, how their bodies were beaten and many burned at the stake, we ought to be ashamed to complain about the petty things that we allow to disturb us."

"To be a good soldier of Jesus Christ means that one must be in dead earnest. I like to see a warm Christian; the warmer he gets the better he suits me. Indeed, it is all right to get red hot on the subject of religion. Getting hot means that you care; keeping cool simply denotes that you are indifferent."

"Peace is a priceless legacy; for our own land we can say: 'Still ed is the tread of armies armed for the deadly fray, and birds build nests in the canons that belched death yesterday.'"

"For men in the heat of passion gave heed to the voice of peace. And sitting 'neath the branch of olive. Have ordered that wars shall cease. Gone are the hates of passions, Tumult and striving ceased. And man made in God's own image From the blood-lust stands released."

"God grant that in the evolution and progress of man, the time may have come when the prophecy embodied in these lines may have been fulfilled, when nations shall not learn war any more."

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

Cuddle Doon, the hospitable home of Mrs. and Miss Seymour Thomas was the scene of a most delightful affair last Sunday afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas entertained at tea, complimenting Mrs. John Percival Jones, who is leaving for New York the 24th of this month. Eighty or more old friends of Mrs. Jones called during the afternoon, most of them native Californians, among them Senator Cole, who recently celebrated his 61st birthday anniversary. Baskets of delicias and roses were decoratively scattered through the rooms and at the tea table. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were Mrs. Cosmo Morgan, Mrs. Stephen Raymond, Mrs. Grenville Brannan, Mrs. Jack McFarland, Mrs. Robert London, Misses Anne Patton, Eleanor Cole, A. Ladd and C. Holliday.

Next Sunday the Sunday school of the Community church will celebrate Rally day in the new home on West Montrose avenue. There will be no services in the morning. The entire time will be given over to the celebration of Rally Day, with the superintendent, C. W. Angier, presiding. There will be special music and a splendid program. Rev. Kelso, pastor, and Mr. Angier, superintendent, are justly proud of the growth of the Sunday school, the attendance having more than doubled during the past year.

Many tickets have been sold for the lecture to be given at the school auditorium next Thursday evening by Dr. Montague Cleaves. He has spent much time abroad and will illustrate his lecture with slides of the different Gothic types of churches and cathedrals of England. The admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. The proceeds will be donated to the building fund of the new Episcopal church to be erected in the near future.

"Armistice Day" was the theme of Rev. H. A. Kelso's sermon Sunday morning at the services of the Community church. This was the last service of the Community church congregation in the school auditorium. In the future, services will be held in the new Community church on West Montrose avenue. The dedication services will be held next Sunday afternoon. Rev. H. A. Kelso, pastor, will be assisted by Dr. W. F. Freeman of Pasadena.

Mrs. M. S. Collins of East Prospect avenue was hostess at tea yesterday afternoon to members of the entertainment committee of the La Crescenta Women's club, of which she is chairman. The regular meeting of the club will be held tomorrow afternoon at the school auditorium. Mrs. T. O. Potts and Mrs. C. J. Klatt will be hostess during the social hour.

The La Crescenta Women's club will give the second of a series of dances next Saturday evening, November 17, at the school auditorium. Mrs. M. B. Darrow, with a committee of club members, will be hostess, and the affair will be a masquerade. Fletcher's orchestra of Pasadena will furnish the music.

The Chamber of Commerce of Montrose gave its first dance of the season at the La Crescenta school auditorium last Saturday evening. Socially and financially, it proved most successful. Many dances and entertainments are being planned by this progressive organization for this winter.

Most enjoyable was the regular meeting of the La Crescenta Aolian Music club at the home of Miss Janet Culbertson last Friday evening. After the business session each member gave the biography of some noted composer. A short program by Arthur Crowell was a pleasing feature of the meeting.

Edwin Evans sold his attractive home on East Montrose avenue during the past week to Edward Gould of Glendale. Mr. and Mrs. Evans will build their new home on their property located west of Boston avenue, between Michigan and Honolulu avenues, which comprises six acres.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potter and family of San Diego were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Potter last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rice and family of Los Angeles were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Armstrong of 1463 Mayfield avenue last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Stivers of 143 East Mayfield avenue motored to Glen Ranch for the week-end.

John S. Conlin spent Saturday and Sunday at his ranch at Palmar, Calif.

THE MISSION OF WINDOWS
"Windows are made for the admission of light and air," declares a house expert. "The latter is needed limitedly, according to temperature, but there are many times, particularly in California, when we may have too much sunlight. It is for the modification of light and the attainment of privacy that window shades were devised. It is but right to remember that nothing is so incongruous or 'nerve-racking' as the unshaded glare from a window—and few windows are spared glare. It is of so frequent occurrence that the well-intentioned decorator in his zeal and enthusiasm to drape windows forgets the necessity of shades—a serious mistake that the occupant of the home must suffer or be obliged to correct."

"Peace is a priceless legacy; for our own land we can say: 'Still ed is the tread of armies armed for the deadly fray, and birds build nests in the canons that belched death yesterday.'"

"For men in the heat of passion gave heed to the voice of peace. And sitting 'neath the branch of olive. Have ordered that wars shall cease. Gone are the hates of passions, Tumult and striving ceased. And man made in God's own image From the blood-lust stands released."

FRANCIS W. READ

There is no doubt that the game of football played today by the colleges of the Pacific coast is entirely different from that played several years ago. Every eleven in the Pacific coast conference is now playing a brand of football that so far outclasses the game played two or three years ago that comparison is almost ridiculous. That is, with the exception of the University of California, California began this new era in 1919, and has continued it to date. In the past two years the other eleven have done the same thing.

Just what is back of this change in the type of game played by the coast eleven is difficult to say. It cannot be due to any general movement throughout the country, for no such thing has been noticed in the east or middle west. It seems to be confined to the coast. Today it can be truthfully said that the type of football that is being played on the Pacific coast is far superior to that being played in any other part of the United States. Some have advanced the theory that the sensational rise of the California team under Andy Smith caused a general stiffening of opposition and the development of a better game among the other colleges. This might sound plausible were it not for the fact that the same situation had existed previously under the Stanford regime and yet no improvement was made in the type of game played by the other colleges. Then in the east we have the situation time and again where one college stays on top and crushes all opposition, but it has never resulted in an improvement in the type of game. The most substantial reason to doubt this theory is that the improvement in the game among the other colleges did not come until California had thoroughly established its championship for a couple of years and subdued all rivals. How, then, can we account for the improvement of the game? Frankly, we give up. It is just one of those things that happens but cannot be accounted for. But the situation is here and we must realize the fact. It may be because of the coming of such coaches as Andy Smith, Gus Henderson, Enoch Bagshaw and Andy Kerr to the coast institutions, but then there are men of high caliber coaching the eastern teams also. This can hardly account for it.

So great is the change that it is difficult to visualize. It might best be illustrated by the California team. In the past two years it has been said that the Bruins lacked the power of the two years previous, that they were weakened. This was because they did not show up so well as had the team of two years before. But few had taken into consideration the change in the game played by the other institutions. So great had been the improvement that we doubt if the

REDLANDS WINS

12 TO 6 SCOREFumble Proves Costly to Southern Branch
Eleven

One fumble cost the Southern Branch eleven a football game yesterday. The University of Redlands scored a 12 to 6 victory over the Cubs in a ragged contest played on Moore field. Had the Bruins not dropped the ball in the first quarter when they were going for a touchdown all would have been well and the game would have ended in a tie score, but the Cubs fumbled on the 20-yard line and Taylor of the Redlands squad grabbed the ball and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. The Bulldogs failed to convert.

The first score was made by the Cubs in the first quarter. After an exchange of punts the Branchers had the ball on the Redlands' 35-yard line. Line plunges by Art Jones and Cap Haralson took the ball within scoring distance and Jones crossed the line for a touchdown. The try for a kick failed. On the next kickoff the Bruins were able to advance the ball on passes and line plunges to the Redlands 20 yard line, where the fumble occurred that gave the Bulldogs their first score. For the rest of the quarter the teams were running neck and neck. Redlands had the ball on its own 35-yard line when the quarter ended. In the second period the Cubs had the edge, but were unable to use it to famous California Wonder team of 1919 and 1920 could repeat its performance facing the opposition that the Bruins face today. Every eleven in the conference has improved its game to a great degree in that time, and the California Wonder team would find a far different situation than it did then. It may be, then, that the supposed weakness of the Bruins in the past two years is not weakness at all, but merely a wonderful improvement in the game by all the other eleven.

Pomona's victory is the tale of Merritt's brilliant work. The Sagehen quarterback was all over the field, snatching passes, dodging and twisting for spectacular runs, tackling like a mad man, recovering Whittier fumbles and in other respects making himself generally useful in the gentle art of trimming opponents. Coach Nixon was forced to remove his ace from the conflict in the first quarter, a bad knock after a particularly efficient tackle of Ed Suggett, who got away on a 28-yard run, causing a recurrence of an old injury. It was thought that Merritt was through for the day, but he came back to life in the second half a perfectly rejuvenated athlete.

Whittier battled fiercely. The Poets were not ashamed of their "Thundering Thousand," all of whom were at the game, may feel the terrible blow. In the first half the visitors had Coaches Nixon and Heath as nervous as a pair of subdues, but the Sagehens showed a different front after the intermission, and the Poets were unable to withstand the powerful line plunges of the Blue and White backfield.

BULL MONTANA
DEFEATS OLSON
IN 26 MINUTES"Boo!" Wins Two Falls
From Swede in Less Than Half Hour

By FRANCIS W. READ
Bull Montana was too much for Charlie Olson last night and as the result the "Terrible Swede" went home in minutes of grappling. The Bull gave him two falls in succession, the first in eighteen minutes on a double toe hold, and the second in eight minutes, pinning him square on his back.

At the outset it appeared that Bull would have the best of the argument. He outweighed Olson by some thirty pounds and was so fast that the Swede could not do a thing with him.

After a couple of minutes of the feeling out process they hit the mat. Bull was on top and punished his opponent with terrible toe holds. Olson was able to recover, but could not do a thing to the Bull. For some time they grappled on the mat, Montana getting the best of it all the way. It seemed that Olson couldn't hurt him nor do one thing to him.

When they entered the ring for the next fall Olson appeared to be all in. He put up a game fight in the short time, however, and forced Montana to work. The Bull was able to send him to the mat in a couple of minutes and it didn't take him long after that to pin him down with both shoulders to the mat. The match was for the best two out of three throws and Bull Montana grabbed the affair by two successive falls.

The only way Olson was able to hurt Bull was to grab him by the nose and then squeeze. The referee had a difficult time to prevent him from this hold. The Swede put up a game scrap but his blows were behind. He appeared to be considerably heavier, although they were both announced at 110 pounds.

The crowd last night was the best since the Athletic club started its weekly bouts, states Les Mars, ton, matchmaker.

ing, but what Teddie lacked in power behind his blows he made up in speed and he was able to beat Ward to the punch time and again. This is the fourth draw that Ward has fought in the local ring.

The judges must have been suffering from some malady of the eyesight when they awarded Pete Essick the decision over Tony Gonzalez. Tony had Pete groggy for the last two rounds and fought his way around him. Essick was afraid to go into Gonzalez and received a cold blow after blow without giving much in exchange. To say that the crowd was dissatisfied with the decision is putting it mildly.

Earlie Stocker defeated Joe Rjckey in the curtain raiser when the latter threw up the sponge in the second round. Stocker was much faster and had more behind his blows than did Rjckey. He appeared to be considerably heavier, although they were both announced at 110 pounds.

The crowd last night was the best since the Athletic club started its weekly bouts, states Les Mars, ton, matchmaker.

CAL-TECH DEFEATS
OCCIDENTAL IN
BIG UPSETEngineers Grab Game
From Tigers by 13 to 6 Score

By LESTER P. GRAFIOUS
Occidental was defeated by Caltech yesterday to the tune of 13 to 6 in a last game of football played in the Rose Bowl, Pasadena. The game was fast and furious and not until the last period did the Engineers grab the lead.

The first quarter, in which Caltech kicked off, resulted in no scores. Early in the second period Captain Spangler of the Occidental eleven was injured and had to be taken from the game. In the first period the ball was mostly in the Caltech territory. The Engineers' line held again and again. When the third period opened, Ebers of the Tiger eleven ran eighty yards from the kickoff for a touchdown through the whole Tech team. The kick was blocked and the score stood 6-0 in favor of the Tigers. Ridderhoff, Tiger fullback, was badly hurt in this quarter but gamely came back. The ball from then on was mostly in Occidental territory.

This is the first defeat of the season for the Tigers, who have hitherto swept aside all opposition. It was an upset in dog to any the least, for Occidental was doped to win. The result of yesterday's game makes the conference struggle anyone's race with just two weeks to go. Occidental and Caltech tied for leadership with Pomona and Whittier not far in the offing.

The line up follows:
CALTECH (13) OCCIDENTAL (6)
Bruner L.E. Spangler
Moye L.T. Garey
Thomas L.G. Snoddy
Beck C. Creighton
Seymour S.G. Wheeler
Steln R.T. Stevens
Harrington R.E. Hazlett
Goldsmith R.H. Chandler
J. Baker L.H. Westgate
Groat R.H. Ebers
Alderman F. Ridderhoff
Substitutions—Caltech: Newcom, Henderson, Helms, Fox, Occidental: McDonald, Argue, Purcell.
Officials—Foley, referee; Daugherty, umpire; Call, field judge.

GLENDALE HIGH
DEFEATS VAN
NUYS TEAMHeavyweights Win 21 to 0, But the Midgets
Drop Game

By FAIRFIELD WILSON
Armistice day games staged by Glendale High were a complete success in every sense of the word. The largest crowd that has seen the Dynamiters in action this season was present. The grandstands and bleachers were filled to their capacity. Although the home town boys met defeat in the first game, which was between the Van Nuys' lightweights and the Glendale 110 pounders, the second game between the heavyweights of the above schools brightened the hearts of the local fans.

The lightweight game was lost by the Dynamiters to the tune of 13-7. During the first half Glendale's team by far outplayed Van Nuys. It was in this period they made their lone score. Even when the second half started there was little doubt that the Red and Black could show the way to the visitors. But the unexpected happened and the visitors plowed through the Dynamiters for one gain after another till two touchdowns had been scored. (The game ended 13-7.)

However, the smile was on the other side of Van Nuys' face from the beginning of the big game to the end. The first score was a placement kick by H. Elliot, the big fullback of the Glendadians. For the rest of the half it looked as though the score would remain 3-0. Nevertheless to start the second half Coach Hayhurst substituted his whole second team. Many thought that it was all up with the Red and Black but a surprise was in store for them. A pass, Gingery to Denny, brought the first touchdown. Walton made the other two scores. None of these was converted. The final score was 21-0. The only sensational play made by Van Nuys in the last half was a gain of 20 yards by Brown.

Between games the Legion staged an exceedingly exciting game of pushball. Although not a common game it looked interesting and many felt like joining in. The number of spectators proved that the town is back of this year's team and, appreciates the fine brand of football they have been putting forth. When the team steps onto the field Friday to fight Covina for the Central League championship, it is expected that every available point of observation will be occupied. A rattling good game is expected at that time with the Dynamiters the favorites.

AUTO REPAIRING
"SO EASY"
Clutch Attachment for Chevrolet Cars
There is nothing so annoying or injurious as the constant grabbing of a clutch which has a tendency to loosen the mechanical parts from the radiator to the rear end; and is extremely unpleasant to the one riding in the car. After this grabbing has taken place for a short time there is a likelihood of its test for the whole rear end out of which is an unnecessary expense if you will only realize the clutch of the car needs occasional attention.
You will have a smooth easy but positive action thereby saving yourself expensive repair bills and make riding a pleasure as the
SO EASY makes a good clutch better.

"GOING UP" AT THE GLENDALE IS A SCREAM

In Douglas MacLean's newest screen success, "Going Up," now showing at the Glendale, considerable footage is devoted to scenes of aeroplanic activity and to many it appears that there was a noticeable waste yet the fact remains that every foot "shot" in the filming of the MacLean comedy was used to advantage.

A dozen airplanes flew a total of more than 57 hours in order that audiences might laugh for ten minutes.

"The fact that we were required to photograph 30,000 feet of film to get the 700 used in 'Going Up' was not inefficiency, it was necessity," says MacLean. "If we had not taken the 30,000 we would not have had the wonderful 700 which we think is the best ever made. We did not use an inch of film that was not necessary. The work was done by men who know their business and who are not wasteful."

There are single scenes in "Going Up" that took a week to film; that were photographed time and time again until the exact result desired was obtained.

"Going Up" is one of the best and cleanest comedies ever filmed.

REAL PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED IN "DAYTIME WIVES"

The glory that was Greece, and the grandeur that was Rome, faded when the women, with their fondness of luxury and their love of excitement, dominated the ancient empires. The most famous cities of ancient times progressed while the women were frugal and industrious. When the feminine sex started to loaf on the job and take it easy, the former great empires began to decay.

In America, the great lodestar of civilization, going to follow in the footsteps of Greece and Rome and see its walls of progress come crashing down to earth? Is the present day-time wife going to cause the decay and collapse of America the same as she did our great empires of antiquity?

Emile Chautard, the famous director, in the production of "Daytime Wives," which is the attraction at the Gateway again today, has painted a series of living, breathing pictures that show the great danger to society caused by the lazy, Bohemian wife.

"GOLD DIGGERS" A SCREEN STORY OF PERFECTION

The much anticipated showing at the T. D. & L. theatre of "The Gold Diggers," is one of those rare pictures which makes its coming an event to remember for all time. This is not on account of its celebrated stars, its strong story and beautiful unique settings, but also because the entire story is unrolled smoothly, apparently without effort, as though it were a single unit, and not a complicated story of the gay night life of New York's intriguing women.

One of the splendid scenes in the picture is a Spanish dance given by Jerry Lamar. In it she is dressed in a wonderful Spanish costume, and the scene is set in a typical Spanish atmosphere. Its beauty and rhythm are really enchanting. The very able cast includes Hope Hampton, Windham Standing, Louise Fazenda, Gertrude Short, Alex Francis, Jed Prouty, Arta Gillman, Peggy Brown, Margaret Seddon, Johnny Harron, Ann Cornwall, Edna Tichenor, Frances Ross, Marie Prade and Louise Beaudet.

Restore Royal Palace, Find Fine Paintings

[By Associated Press]
WARSAW, Nov. 13.—During the restoration of the Warsaw royal palace, dating from 1602, beautiful mural paintings of the 18th century have been discovered hidden beneath papers and tapestries put on the walls during the Russian occupation of Warsaw. The paintings are of the Italian school and of great artistic value. Every endeavor is being made to restore them completely. No clue yet has been found as to the identity of the painter.

BRAND IMP. ASS'N. IN IMPORTANT MEETING TONIGHT

On call of Mattison B. Jones, president, the Brand Boulevard Improvement association will meet this evening, Tuesday, November 13, at 7:30 sharp, at the new office of J. F. Stanford, 108 West Broadway. Several matters of immediate importance will come before the meeting, which will be of special interest to all North Brand property owners. Meeting will be called promptly at 7:30 and need not take more than an hour.

MONTROSE NOTES

What was to have been a surprise party on Dorothy and Virginia Keiffer of La Crescenta, turned out to be a surprise on the jolly boys and girls who planned it when they arrived at the Keiffer home Monday evening. Expecting to find the girls overcome when the crowd arrived, the young folks found the honorees ready and waiting for them. The home was attractively decorated with flowers and gold and blue streamers. A huge birthday cake announced the fact that Miss Dorothy had reached another milestone in her pleasant life. The evening was spent in dancing. Dainty refreshments were served.

Members of the La Crescenta-Montrose Woman's club will meet Wednesday afternoon at the La Crescenta schoolhouse. A delightful program has been arranged for the day, and every member is urged to be present.

Perhaps one of the largest real estate transactions to be carried out here in several months was consummated this week when four Montrose business men purchased from Myra Hershey one hundred acres of land lying in the valley. The new owners are J. C. Merwin, J. N. Richards, George and John Carson. It is planned to subdivide some of the property in the very near future.

F. R. Harding formerly of Long Beach, has purchased a beautiful lot in Sparr Heights and will commence to build there on Wednesday. Mr. Harding plans to erect a handsome residence for himself and family. He is delighted with the location of his lot and the fine surroundings.

The third of a series of neighborhood dances will be given by the people of Briggs Terrace and Longview Villas next Saturday evening in the Briggs Terrace hall. To those who enjoy jolly, "get acquainted" affairs these dances afford an excellent opportunity for a good time. Anyone who cares to dance is invited. Simply drive west on Michigan to Briggs avenue and then north to the end of the road. There will be many there to greet you and help you to have a pleasant evening.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

HELPING A SICK SPOILED CHILD

Little Jimmie had just had his tonsils out and his father and mother were almost distracted with anxiety. The child, sitting up in a little white hospital bed, was fair happy and might have been more so had his parents allowed him to be.

But they were so afraid that his throat would hurt him when he swallowed and so afraid of a hundred and one things that might happen to lengthen his sojourn in the hospital that at times the nurse was almost forced to rescue Jimmie from them.

"Jimmie could never gargle. Nurse, I don't know what you will do about that," said Jimmie's mother anxiously the first day after the operation.

"But Jimmie has already gargled," said the nurse. "He managed beautifully. The whole secret of gargling for little children is to give them very little solution in their mouths at a time and to explain to them the need of gargling very gently and then of emptying the mouth carefully. As long as a child is not hurried he will do practically anything well."

"Jimmie is so nervous he can't sleep without a light on," said his father the first night.

"But I don't want the light on. The doctor said I would sleep all night because I had ether today, and my throat doesn't hurt a bit," contributed little Jimmie. "The doctor has a little boy with red hair too, and he told me a bear story today when he wrote some things on my chart."

Almost reluctantly, as the days went by, Jimmie's parents realized that the little boy had never before been ill so comfortably.

Always before, during sieges of night terrors and earache, sore throats and biliousness, little Jimmie had been petted and cajoled and pampered. He had been "poor dearied," and "darlinged." His father had asked him if the fomen-tations were too hot and called them "naughty, naughty."

His mother gave him castor oil only under protest and bribed him with candy and gum to take it. By appealing constantly to his sense of honor, of responsibility and to his imagination the nurse saw the little spoiled child expand like a flower in the sun under the new treatment of "appeals."

Instead of forewarning him that his tonic was nasty and that the doctor was a bad, bad man to send it to him, Jimmie was given his medicine, measured into a tiny glass, was allowed to pour water into it himself and told that he was

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE SOUL IN NEED

A little drop of water fell
Upon a withered flower,
And made it to bloom fresh again
In just a passing hour.
Perhaps the flower there had died
And fallen in dust away
Had not the drop of water come
To save the flower that day.

A little word of kindness fell
Upon a soul one day,
A soul that was in deep despair,
And saw no hope or way.
A little word of kindness came
And touched the soul and then
Its bitter hopelessness was gone
And it was glad again.

A little light fell on the path
Where all was dark with night,
And little feet that stumbled there
Were led into the light.
'Twas just a little flickering beam
That fell upon the way
But well it served a struggling soul
Until it came the day.

A little kindness in despair,
A faint gleam in the night,
A little help to lighten care,
These lead from dark to light;
How many a flower dies too soon,
How many a soul hath need;
So let me say the kindly word
And do the friendly deed.

national organization can be successful which does not deal with community problems and meet community needs.

"We need to bring into our farm homes, and into our rural districts, more of the real spirit of community life. The time has come when the farmer and the community must be associated for protection as well as for advancing the rural people. Unorganized, disrupted, selfish communities have often been imposed upon."

"When Farm Bureau women get together and discuss household affairs of common interests, such as household management, hygienic problems, cooking, sanitation, labor saving devices, marketing of butter and eggs, enterprises of social, literary, musical and artistic interest, ways are sure to be found to overcome many obstacles."

Rochester Doctor Achieves Remarkable Success With New Prescription for Piles

Rochester, N. Y. — For years it has been known that many so-called remedies for the relief or cure of Hemorrhoids or Piles were simply palliative and gave only temporary relief while surgical operations often adopted as a last resort never removed the cause but simply the formation.

It has remained for a well-known doctor of this city to find the real remedy. Years of patient, painstaking effort on his part has resulted in a prescription that will actually heal piles and absorb them never to return.

DRAMA AUTHORS ARE TO IMPROVE ART STANDARDS

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—American playwrights have decided to make an effort to wrest from the managers and actors a third share in the American theatre as a means of lifting the intellectual and artistic standards of native dramatic art. This is the assertion of Owen Davis, one-time president of the American Dramatists and Composers and now a leading spirit in the American Dramatists, a guild of the Authors' League of America.

"We," Mr. Davis said today, "who are the backbone and the brains of the American stage, go unnoticed while actors and managers struggle for control of the theatre, and while the stage is permitted to give the public only a fraction of the beauty and artistry it might give if directed by persons of wider horizon and greater intelligence." He pointed out that actors and managers now were arrayed against each other in a fight for control of the stage and that, meantime, both dramatists and plays were given scant if any attention by either of the warring factions.

"In the old days of the American stage the dramatic author was all-powerful, and he is even today in many European countries," Mr. Davis declared, "yet in this country no one pays any attention to him or to the great public of Americans he serves. Five years ago a large number of actors went on strike in New York. They did not consult us. The theaters were closed. Our plays were suspended or left unproduced. When actors and managers settled the strike, again we were not consulted."

"Next June the Actors Equity Association intends to strike for an 'equity shop'; the managers will refuse the demand, I know. We, the authors who constitute the one creative and the all-important element in the situation of play production, will be represented on neither board. We will lose no matter who wins."

"Therefore the American Dramatists have been driven to take an aggressive position, to demand one-third voice in the theatre, to demand that excellence of the theatre rather than control of it be the most important object for all of us, managers, actors and authors."

"Until we authors are occasionally consulted in the business direction, we cannot hope for a better theater. If we cannot get a hearing from actors and managers, then as a group we will be forced into active production. But we prefer to avoid this because we realize that the actor or author who becomes a manager, becomes primarily a manager."

"The solution I have to offer is simple. Yet I believe it will prevent haggling over control of the stage and will permit also the production of better plays."

"Let all differences of opinions among authors, actors and managers over ethics, business and other matters be submitted to a jury composed of an equal number of each group. This jury should be able to make and enforce its decisions through a sort of boycott system. If an actor, manager, or author refuses to abide by a decision he will be boycotted by all the rest."

"This system will prevent strikes; it will do much more than that in bringing into the choice of plays for production the voice of men who are interested in beauty as well as money."

POINTS NEED OF BETTER HOMES ON OUR FARMS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—Farm women want a definite place and a definite way to serve more adequately and effectively "our homes, our communities and our country," according to a paper by Mrs. W. C. Martin of Dallas, Texas, read at today's session of the convention here of the American Country Life association. Mrs. Martin is chairman of the Home and Community committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"Our purposes are threefold: Economic, social and educational," Mrs. Martin said. "No state or na-
